the hall of the second floor, and a

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

The Atomic Energy Commission of the United Nations voted to refer Bernard M. Baruch's proposal for immediate approval of the United States plan for atomic control to its working committee with instructions to make by December 31st a report containing the principles on which Mr. Baruch's recommendations were based. The commission's vote was 10 to 0. However, Poland abstained and the Soviet Union emphasized that it did not want to be a party to the commission's action by refusing to have itself recorded even as abstaining.As the United Nations prepared to send a commission to the Balkans to investigate border incidents, Allied military authorities in Athens were reported to have received confidential data that Yugoslav troops had massed near the Greek border along the Vardar River, whose valley is the historical invasion route into northern Greece.Renewed fighting has broken out in Indo-China between French forces and troops of the Viet Nam Government, according to reports reaching Paris. The Viet Nam troops were said to have opened an attack on Manoi, the capital of the Viet Nam Republic, and sharp clashes were reported on several other fronts.Independence was offered to Burma, a neighbor of Indo-China, by the British Labor Government on the same terms as those presented to India. The offer drew a bitter attack from Winston Churchill, who condemned it as another step in the "decline and fall of the British Empire."In India, the possibility that the main issue dividing the Congress party and the Muslim League might be resolved was seen in indications that the Congress party was ready to accept the Muslim League's interpretation on the compulsory groupings of Indian Provinces under the British plan for Indian independence.In Washington, Representative Howard W. Smith, co-author of the wartime labor disputes act, revealed that he would introduce in the new Congress a measure calling for revision of the Wagner Act, "to restore equality between unions and industry and protect the paramount interest of the general public."The United Automobile Workers, CIO, filed suits in several States to collect millions of dollars from automobile manufacturers for workers

FOOD, FARMS AND FREEDOM

One of the important points about State Socialism which many persons overlook is that it can neither back up nor stand still.Socialism (and Communism) are not policies; they are programs. That is what makes them different from other political parties, such as Republican and Democratic—or Prohibition, Single Tax, etc., etc.Great Britain is beginning to find this out.
Much of what Winston Churchill warned about before the Labor Party victory there is beginning to come true.Churchill charged that attempts to Socialize and Nationalize England would release stresses and pressures which would drive the country unflinchingly down a path of growing "control"; until no man's freedom would survive.This was disputed. The Socialists insisted they were planning only a "moderate" program. They were going to buy up the Bank of England, on the theory the country's finances were so involved no other step would be practical (and on the theory also that this gave them merely the equivalent of our Federal Reserve Banking system).They would take over also the British coal industry, which has been dying on its feet for a generation. Some other heavy industries might have to be nationalized also. But the accusation that all major and most minor businesses would follow suit, including transportation and farming, were gently ridiculed after the English manner.Nationalization of land itself, it was stated specifically, would not even be considered during the five-year tenure of the present government.But whether there was deliberate deception by such speakers, or whether they have been caught in forces that move faster and farther than expected, already efforts are being made to nation-alize both transportation and farming.As might be foreseen, these are meeting violent opposition and criticism.The transportation measure, which was a preliminary to nationalization, has been set back in its first test votes in Parliament.Introduction of a "farm program" bill, under which farmers could be fired off their land for not following bureaucratic advice, set off real fireworks. Time was called to permit

THREE ERRORS
No one is immune from error and it is probably just tough luck that the Supreme Court has been caught in so many embarrassing mistakes during the past half year.
Once last June and twice so far this month the justices have had to issue corrections to announcements which have been made.

So far no serious, or at any rate no permanent, damage has been caused by these judicial slips.
In one instance a convicted mur-derer, who escaped when the electric chair broke down, was told that the Supreme Court would not review his appeal. The man presumably had no complaint when the justices announced the next day that this was a mistake and that they would hear his appeal after all.

Another correction changed the announced vote without altering the outcome of a case. A third error might have had widespread repercussions if it had not been promptly discovered and corrected. This was the erroneous announcement that the court would not review an appeal from a lower court's decision which held that foremen could join unions.

In none of these cases, in all probability, were the justices themselves to blame. The most likely culprit was a printer or a minor official of the court.

At the same time such repeated evidences of fallibility are bad for the reputation of the court.
The printed orders of the highest tribunal in the land should be most vigilantly watched for careless errors. The justices deserve sympathy in their embarrassment.
For their sake and that of the court, it is to be hoped that this is the last time they will find it necessary to correct the record.

WHOOPING COUGH
Medical authorities are sounding a timely alarm over whooping cough. This disease too often is regarded lightly and given little attention. It is alarming to know, and should be taken as a warning, that whooping cough kills more children than polio and scarlet fever combined. In 1944 there were 1,878 deaths from the disease in the United States, while victims of polio numbered 1,381 and deaths from scarlet fever to-aled 422.

Health department officials attribute this large number of deaths to ignorance and carelessness of the general public concerning whooping cough. Children afflicted are permitted to associate with other children, go to school before the disease has been diagnosed, and in other ways spread infection until an entire community has been exposed.

Many serious complications may follow whooping cough.
Above everything, the patient should be kept away from other children, and every precaution should be taken to protect the neighborhood and the community.
Whooping cough is not merely a childish disease. It is a menace which must be faced promptly and effectively.

Tribes in India are fighting with stones, or primitive atomic bombs.

Churchill and his followers to prepare a vote of "censure"—which, if passed, might collapse the whole Labor government and force a new election.

According to a fiery speech by the former Prime Minister and war leader, this resolution will have "tyranny, conceit and incompetence as its first charges."

Broadly speaking, the British farm proposal is quite similar to that put across by the Communists in Russia a generation ago—in which a famine was produced that has been said to have killed 6,000,000 persons.

Under it, the government experts would "forecast" food and farm conditions, plan ahead for the farmers, fix prices, guarantee farm wages and income, insure crops, push a national union of those in agricultural work—and "buy up" farms out from under those who fail to cooperate.

Since the "buying" would be done with "money" which the government can print at will, and which has neither gold nor any other tangible behind it, about all it means in the long run is giving the farmer a receipt for the transaction.

In fact, since it presumably would be held that the real backing of the money was the land which the government would buy with it, the scheme bears some striking resemblance to one of the most disastrous bursts of inflation any nation ever suffered, and one often used as a "horrible example" by experts in political economy—that of the Revolutionary French Government in about 1790.

The debates on these matters highlight a growing three-way division in the political make-up of Great Britain.

Strongest of these factions, on the basis of recent roll-calls, is the Labor Party group which is in charge of the government. This has "played along" with American foreign policy, has attempted to keep the British Empire intact, and, of necessity, has moderated much of its pre-election extremes to what might be called a "middle-of-the-road" policy.

Second in size is the "conservative" wing, ousted from power when Churchill, who is its leader, was defeated. This faction claims considerable recent growth both in sentiment and votes.

Third faction is that of the extremists of the Labor Party, who are splitting away from the present administration because it is too moderate for their tastes. These include all those who want Great Britain to accept Russia as a full partner in world affairs—to "cooperate" with the Communists, and renounce all fellowship with "capitalistic" Uncle Sam.

It is this last group which recently praised the Henry Wallace position in this country, and hailed him as a spiritual partner across the seas—to the American Left-Wing leader's considerable embarrassment.

It will be noted that the Bevin-Atlee government is very much "in the middle," and will continue to be so. It cannot hope to win either radicals or conservatives to its support without losing quite as much as it gains, from the opposite wing. Whatever it does—and of course it has to make a constant string of embarrassing decisions—can only result in creating still more dissatisfaction among its own borderline supporters.

The British battle of free government versus dictatorship may not yet be over. It would seem that further important events are very much in the making.

THE CAPITOL WHIRL

A Digest of Things Political Occurring At Harrisburg

By International News Service

HARRISBURG, Dec. 21—(INS)—While Republican leaders have expressed hopes for a short session of the 1947 General Assembly, some legislators have predicted the meeting may last five months because of "pressing problems." Republican State Chairman M. Harvey Taylor summed up the sentiment of the average Assemblyman when he said "everyone wants a short business-like session, straight to the point." At a caucus of GOP House members at Harrisburg December 7th hopes for a three-month session were expressed.

Some legislators have admitted that hickering over major issues, a state soldiers' bonus and increased educational appropriations, may prove an obstacle to a speedy meeting. In past years the session usually extended into May or June. The 1945 meeting ended May 7. The longest meeting in recent times was the 1941 session which lasted 196 days, adjourning July 15. After the session adjourns next year, the Governor will have 39 days in which to approve or veto legislation.

The Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce has announced the appointment of John H. Moody, Harrisburg attorney, as manager of its legislative service bureau. Moody succeeded Earle E. Rynn, who resigned December 2 after 12 years' service.

The State American Legion has recommended to Attorney General James H. Duff, Governor-elect, the appointment of Brig. Gen. Frank A. Weber, of Beaver Falls, as State Adjutant General. Weber is present Deputy General. Robert M. Vail, of Kingston, was expected to retire as head of the military affairs department at the end of Gov. Edward Martin's administration on January 21. Vail is 71. The post pays $10,000 a year.

As Governor Martin's four-year term draws to a close there has been great scrambling by some members of his cabinet to gain similar posts in the official family of Governor-elect Duff. . . . According to reports a large number of Cabinet members would like to remain in state service. . . . On the other hand, a few Cabinet officers reportedly plan to return to private life.

The State Justice Department has ruled that employees of the Emergency Area College Program were required to join the Public School Employees' Retirement System. . . . An opinion, requested by Superintendent of Public Instruction Francis B. Haas, said that joining the retirement system was mandatory for employees under 62 years of age "who receive their full compensation for such services from commonwealth funds." . . . The Department also ruled that full-time employees were subject to all provisions of the retirement act, but that teachers between 62 and 70 were not required to contribute or become active members of the association while persons over 70 were ineligible to make contributions or receive credit for retirement benefits.

"Too often we take our railroads for granted," Secretary of Internal Affairs William S. Livelywood, Jr. has written in the Department's monthly bulletin. . . . "Without them we would have lost the Civil War and we could not have fought World War II. The fact that, under private management, they came through that conflict magnificently and ready to meet unprecedented post-war needs despite heavy handicaps whereas government operation nearly ruined them in World War I is the best recommendation for continuation of private enterprise in industry."

HULMEVILLE

A gift exchange, program of games, and holiday refreshments were included at the Christmas party of the Hulmeville-Muncietown Parent-Teacher Association on Wednesday evening in the school house. The games were in charge of Miss Margaret Perry, and all enjoyed a scavenger hunt throughout the school rooms. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Ned Moyer, Mrs. Louis Goll, Jr., and Mrs. William Perry. The short business meeting was conducted by President Ned Moyer. Members voted to donate a sum to the Salvation Army; and plan a record library for use of pupils. At the parties conducted in the school yesterday for the children oranges and candy bars were distributed to each, these being gifts from the P. T. A.

THREE ERRORS

No one is immune from error and it is probably just tough luck that the Supreme Court has been caught in so many embarrassing mistakes during the past half year. Once last June and twice so far this month the justices have had to issue corrections to announcements which have been made.

So far no serious, or at any rate no permanent, damage has been caused by these judicial slips. In one instance a convicted murderer, who escaped when the electric chair broke down, was told that the Supreme Court would not review his appeal. The man presumably had no complaint when the justices announced the next day that this was a mistake and that they would hear his appeal after all.

Another correction changed the announced vote without altering the outcome of a case. A third error might have had widespread repercussions if it had not been promptly discovered and corrected. This was the erroneous announcement that the court would not review an appeal from a lower court's decision which held that foremen could join unions.

In none of these cases, in all probability, were the justices themselves to blame. The most likely culprit was a printer or a minor official of the court.

At the same time such repeated evidences of fallibility are bad for the reputation of the court. The printed orders of the highest tribunal in the land should be most vigilantly watched for careless errors. The justices deserve sympathy in their embarrassment. For their sake and that of the court, it is to be hoped that this is the last time they will find it necessary to correct the record.

WHOOPING COUGH

Medical authorities are sounding a timely alarm over whooping cough. This disease too often is regarded lightly and given little attention. It is alarming to know, and should be taken as a warning, that whooping cough kills more children than polio and scarlet fever combined. In 1944 there were 1,878 deaths from the disease in the United States, while victims of polio numbered 1,381 and deaths from scarlet fever totaled 422.

Health department officials attribute this large number of deaths to ignorance and carelessness of the general public concerning whooping cough. Children afflicted are permitted to associate with other children, go to school before the disease has been diagnosed, and in other ways spread infection until an entire community has been exposed.

Many serious complications may follow whooping cough. Above everything, the patient should be kept away from other children, and every precaution should be taken to protect the neighborhood and the community. Whooping cough is not merely a childish disease. It is a menace which must be faced promptly and effectively.

Tribes in India are fighting with stones, or primitive atomic bombs.

Churchill and his followers to prepare a vote of "censure"—which, if passed, might collapse the whole Labor government and force a new election.

Broadly speaking, the British farm proposal is quite similar to that put across by the Communists in Russia a generation ago—in which a famine was produced that has been said to have killed 6,000,000 persons.

Under it, the government experts would "forecast" food and farm conditions, plan ahead for the farmers, fix prices, guarantee farm wages and income, insure crops, push a national union of those in agricultural work—and "buy up" farms out from under those who fail to cooperate.

Since the "buying" would be done with "money" which the government can print at will, and which has neither gold nor any other tangible behind it, about all it means in the long run is giving the farmer a receipt for the transaction.

In fact, since it presumably would be held that the real backing of the money was the land which the government would buy with it, the scheme bears some striking resemblance to one of the most disastrous bursts of inflation any nation ever suffered, and one often used as a "horrible example" by experts in political economy—that of the Revolutionary French Government in about 1790.

The debates on these matters highlight a growing three-way division in the political make-up of Great Britain.

Strongest of these factions, on the basis of recent roll-calls, is the Labor Party group which is in charge of the government. This has "played along" with American foreign policy, has attempted to keep the British Empire intact, and, of necessity, has moderated much of its pre-election extremes to what might be called a "middle-of-the-road" policy.

Second in size is the "conservative" wing, ousted from power when Churchill, who is its leader, was defeated. This faction claims considerable recent growth both in sentiment and votes.

Third faction is that of the extremists of the Labor Party, who are splitting away from the present administration because it is too moderate for their tastes. These include all those who want Great Britain to accept Russia as a full partner in world affairs—to "cooperate" with the Communists, and renounce all fellowship with "capitalistic" Uncle Sam.

It is this last group which recently praised the Henry Wallace position in this country, and hailed him as a spiritual partner across the seas—to the American Left-Wing leader's considerable embarrassment.

It will be noted that the Bevin-Atlee government is very much "in the middle," and will continue to be so. It cannot hope to win either radicals or conservatives to its support without losing quite as much as it gains, from the opposite wing. Whatever it does—and of course it has to make a constant string of embarrassing decisions—can only result in creating still more dissatisfaction among its own borderline supporters.

The British battle of free government versus dictatorship may not yet be over. It would seem that further important events are very much in the making.

THE CAPITOL WHIRL

A Digest of Things Political Occurring At Harrisburg

By International News Service

HARRISBURG, Dec. 21—(INS)—While Republican leaders have expressed hopes for a short session of the 1947 General Assembly, some legislators have predicted the meeting may last five months because of "pressing problems." Republican State Chairman M. Harvey Taylor summed up the sentiment of the average Assemblyman when he said "everyone wants a short business-like session, straight to the point." At a caucus of GOP House members at Harrisburg December 7th hopes for a three-month session were expressed.

Some legislators have admitted that bickering over major issues, a state soldiers' bonus and increased educational appropriations, may prove an obstacle to a speedy meeting. In past years the session usually extended into May or June. The 1945 meeting ended May 7. The longest meeting in recent times was the 1941 session which lasted 196 days, adjourning July 15. After the session adjourns next year, the Governor will have 30 days in which to approve or veto legislation.

The Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce has announced the appointment of John H. Moody, Harrisburg attorney, as manager of its legislative service bureau. Moody succeeded Earle E. Renn, who resigned December 2 after 12 years' service.

The State American Legion has recommended to Attorney General James H. Duff, Governor-elect, the appointment of Brig. Gen. Frank A. Weber, of Beaver Falls, as State Adjutant General. Weber is present Deputy General. Robert M. Vail, of Kingston, was expected to retire as head of the military affairs department at the end of Gov. Edward Martin's administration on January 21. Vail is 71. The post pays $10,000 a year.

As Governor Martin's four-year term draws to a close there has been great scrambling by some members of his cabinet to gain similar posts in the official family of Governor-elect Duff. According to reports a large number of Cabinet members would like to remain in state service. On the other hand, a few Cabinet officers reportedly plan to return to private life.

The State Justice Department has ruled that employees of the Emergency Area College Program were required to join the Public School Employees' Retirement System. An opinion, requested by Superintendent of Public Instruction Francis B. Haas, said that joining the retirement system was mandatory for employees under 62 years of age "who receive their full compensation for such services from commonwealth funds."

The Department also ruled that full-time employees were subject to all provisions of the retirement act, but that teachers between 62 and 70 were not required to contribute or become active members of the association while persons over 70 were ineligible to make contributions or receive credit for retirement benefits.

"Too often we take our railroads for granted," Secretary of Internal Affairs William S. Livingston, Jr. has written in the Department's monthly bulletin. "Without them we would have lost the Civil War, and we could not have fought World War II. The fact that, under private management, they came through that conflict magnificently and ready to meet unprecedented post-war needs despite heavy handicaps whereas government operation nearly ruined them in World War I is the best recommendation for continuation of private enterprise in industry."

HULMEVILLE

A gift exchange, program of games, and holiday refreshments were included at the Christmas party of Hulmeville-Simtown Parent-Teacher Association on Wednesday evening in the school house.

The games were in charge of Miss Margaret Perry, and all enjoyed a scavenger hunt throughout the school rooms. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Ned Moyer, Mrs. Louis Goll, Jr., and Mrs. William Perry. The short business meeting was conducted by President Ned Moyer. Members voted to donate a sum to the Salvation Army; and plan a record library for use of pupils. At the parties conducted in the school yesterday for the children oranges and candy bars were distributed to each, these being gifts from the P. T. A.

48 to 23

SOTTILE HIGH MAN

Keyes, McDevitt and Mandio Star for The Losing Team

Bristol High won its fourth game last night on the high school floor, trouncing the Alumni representatives, 48-23.

The former members of the high school teams could not cope with the present team in any form and from the start the High School was invincible with Coach "Don" Fetterman substituting continuously to keep the score down.

Jim Sottile was high man for the winners with 9 points although every player who got in the game, with the exception of Mama, scored at least one field goal.

"Howie" Keyes, Joe McDevitt and "Mickey" Mandio were high men for the Alumni.

The High School Junior Varsity quintet nosed out the Alumni Junior Varsity, 28-26, in the preliminary game.

The winners made 13 field goals to 10 for the Alumni. The Alumni outscored the High School from the foul mark, but had more chances.

Bielecki and Morrell had three fielders each for the winners while Streeter and Yorty scored 9 and 8 points, respectively, to keep the Alumni in the game.

Fifth Ward Sporting Club
Goes Down To Defeat
By Score of 30 to 28

TILT CLOSELY FOUGHT

Di Angelo Scored Seven Points for The Losing Aggregation

"Joe" Quigley's field goal in the closing minute of the game gave the Hibonians their third straight win of the Bristol Basketball League last night on the Rohm and Haas floor. The Fifth Ward Sporting Club was the losing aggregation with the final score being 30-28.

Prior to Quigley's winning double-decker, "Joe" Gallagher had deadlocked the score with a foul goal.

The Fifth Ward team started out fast and with Angelo Cordisco leading the attack took a 13-8 lead at the end of the first quarter. At half-time, the Warders were still ahead 18-13 but only two points separated the teams at the end of the third period, the score being: Fifth Ward, 21; Hibonians, 19.

Quigley and "Rip" Kelly were high men for the winners with Di-Angelo scoring 7 points for Fifth Ward.
